

DR. MOORE

Is Vice President of Conference.

Methodists Heard Many Addresses.

Cambridge, O., Sept. 19.—Bishop Warren presided at yesterday's session of the East Ohio conference. On motion four classes were referred to the committee on conference relations, viz.: those who are candidates for admission; those who are admitted into full connection; those who come with credentials from other churches; and those whom the conference shall refer for change of relations.

Rev. L. H. Stewart moved that a petition to the missionary board for an appropriation of $500 for work among the Italians, of Cleveland, be approved, and Rev. J. W. King introduced a similar motion for Youngstown. Rev. John Krantz, of the book concern, addressed the conference in the interest of that work. Rev. J. H. Hoover spoke in the interest of the Pittsburgh book depository. Rev. W. H. Lewis represented the Protestant hospital, of Columbus. Rev. Dr. Thielicke spoke in the interest of the Freedman's Aid and Southern Educational society's work. The bishop called the roll of the districts, and specific reports were made by the pastors of the churches. Change of relations was granted to Rev. H. S. Jackson, Rev. H. Webb, Rev. T. J. Post, and Rev. J. M. Keck.

The committee reported the following officers for the coming year: President, H. S. Strahl; vice president, J. W. Moore; secretary, W. M. Jeffers; treasurer, H. J. Hunsicker; executive committee, H. H. Miller, E. E. Sparks, and J. G. Exline; legislative committee, J. S. Reager, J. H. Merchant, J. M. Rader.

The thirteenth annual reunion and campfire of the East Ohio Ministerial Veterans society was held in the Colonial theatre last evening. The officers were: Rev. L. Timberlake, captain presiding; Rev. C. H. Stocking, first lieutenant; Rev. T. W. Anderson, second lieutenant; Rev. J. A. Wright, adjutant; Rev. W. H. Piggott, chaplain; Rev. N. B. Stewart, quartermaster.

The following program was given: singing by the congregation, "America," song by quartet, conducted by Rev. W. D. Knight; prayer by the chaplain, Rev. W. H. Piggott; solo, "The Sword of Bunker Hill," Rev. C. H. Stocking; address of welcome, W. S. Meade; response, Rev. L. Timberlake; music, "My Heaviest Battle," Rev. T. W. Anderson; "My Greatest Victory," Rev. J. S. Reager; music; address, Rev. William Perego; address, Bishop H. W. Warren; music, "How We Prepared for a March," Rev. T. W. Toland; farewell address, Rev. E. J. Smith.

There are thirty-two members in the association, all of whom were present.

LARGE HOUSE

Greeted "A Little Outcast" at the Grand Opera House.

"A Little Outcast" opened its engagement at the Grand yesterday after a matinee played to the largest after-noon house the Grand has ever had, excepting Saturdays, and repeated its success with the largest house of the season at the evening performance. The play is an entirely new one and away from the ordinary melodrama. The plot is a consistent one, carefully portraying the misfortunes of an unfortunate young business man who has been unjustly convicted of a crime of which he was innocent. The scene opens with Paul, the hero, as a clerk in the employ of a broker who is about to make him his partner, but through a conspiracy of a nephew of the broker, he is accused of robbing his employers' vault of government bonds. He is then discharged and segregated from his wife, after which he falls into the hands and becomes a tool of his enemy. He is drugged and taken to his wife's apartments to assist in committing a burglary, afterwards locked in an old warehouse which is set on fire with the intent of burning him to death, but through the energy of Bob, a little bootblack, his friend and admirer, he is rescued and afterwards proven innocent through the aid of a phonograph which takes down and repeats a confession made by his enemies.

Miss Anne Blanche, as Bob, the hero, is an ideal boy and deserves a great deal of credit for the manner in which she portrays the Outcast. Other parts are also well taken.

A very pleasing feature of the performance was the Newsboys' Quintette composed of boys of about 14 years having surprisingly sweet voices.

"A Little Outcast" will be repeated tonight, and tomorrow afternoon and night.

"A Desperate Chance," a romantic play founded on the adventures of the Middle brothers, will be the attraction at the Colonial tomorrow afternoon and night.

MIDNIGHT

Experiences of Janitor Rohrer.

A telephone message was received at Police headquarters at 10 o'clock Thursday evening, stating that William Spidel, an Akron man, had escaped from the workhouse an hour earlier. Shortly after midnight Janitor Dan Rohrer, of the Union depot, whose home is in Canal Fulton met a stranger as he was walking along a lonely region on the railroad tracks from Fulton to Warlick. The stranger was sitting on the track and wore a large straw hat, a shirt and striped trousers. As Mr. Rohrer was about to pass the man, he jumped up suddenly and exclaimed:

"Say, pard, where you going?"

"To Warlick," was the answer of Mr. Rohrer who was slightly startled and kept his hand near his hip-pocket.

"Guess I'll go along with you," continued the stranger, and the two proceeded to Warlick. On the way the stranger told Mr. Rohrer, who kept a sharp eye on him, that he had escaped from the Canton "works" and that he was coming to his home in this city tonight. He said that he had been imprisoned for an offense which he did not commit. He left at Warlick in search of another pair of trousers and Mr. Rohrer came to Akron on the B. & O. passenger. The stranger was undoubtedly Spidel as he was known to have gone in the direction of Canal Fulton.

Spidel was arrested here about three weeks ago and turned over to the Canton officials. There he was found guilty of having stolen a ring and was sent to the "works."
